Destiny on the Job

9th INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE
31.10-3.11-2019 – ISTANBUL – Turkey

The work place can be a platform for individual spiritual development. We experience a growing impulse to build a new human culture for economic and professional spheres. This conference initiative addresses the spiritual dimension behind the phenomena in the workplace.

Who to attend:

The DESTINY ON THE JOB initiative is intended mainly for two kinds of professions:

1. People that consult others (consultants, coaches, mentors, trainers)
2. People that lead or responsibly cooperate with others (entrepreneurs, managers, leaders)

Conference aims:

- Sensitize people to the spiritual and especially karmic dimension present in organizations
- Sensitize to the observation and recognition of karmic phenomena in the workplace
- Become more aware about our activity as facilitators in the development processes at work
- Share our experiences on this area of research

Why to attend:

It is time to be active. Creating a new future by our daily deeds. Contact with other folk is a great support in renewing our energy. A network set up is being prepared for DESTINY ON THE JOB for ongoing contact and sharing of developments or research. New ideas from practical experiences can support your daily business. Bring in your own topics and activities, we create an open platform for exchange of experience between professionals.

Conference Title:

“EAST AND WEST MEETING DIVERSITY ON THE JOB“

West and East meeting: Who are you? Who am I? - Meeting one another beyond the limitations and diversities of gender, religion, tradition and culture.

This conference is a challenge: We go beyond the familiar conference places in Central Europe and move to Turkey, to Istanbul, the bridge between the East and the West. This new conference place is a signal: In a world that is moving apart in misunderstanding we come together to build a bridge of understanding. It is an experiment; we do not quite know how it works, but we shall try.

The first step is to become aware of who we are with all that which we carry along: burdens of our tradition, history, discrimination, triumphs even. The conference will offer safe spaces where we can share some of it. We call this destiny.

This conference is a challenge also because it quite consciously appeals to business people: Questions of destiny play a vital role in business life, especially if you want to be successful. Do not hesitate, come.

In artistic exercises, in group work, in team coaching situations, in sharing experiences, in having one-to-one karma conversations we want to explore new social techniques. This conference will be a research meeting. Everybody is invited to share her / his experiences and to learn and develop together, to meet new challenges in everybody's work life.

It is high time to understand destiny in our professional life. Without this understanding we cannot solve the social problems and needs of today.
